

THE SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG WAS CELEBRATED.

The Notable Feature was an Address by Rev. Harry Daniels on Spirit of Americanism.

The message of the Sixtieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, the only address of the occasion was conveyed most impressively by a local man, Rev. Harry Daniels, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, from the top of Little Round Top on Monday afternoon. About two hundred veterans of the Blue and Gray were present and the audience was estimated at between two and three thousand.

Rev. Daniels took as the subject of his address the Spirit of Americanism as embodied in the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution. In opening he said that at first it seemed it would be better for him to be a silent spectator and contemplate silently the message of the day with its memories, but there was a certain appropriateness in the part he was taking.

His father was in Beauregard's command during the war and would have been in Pickett's Charge if he had not been ill in a hospital at the time with typhoid fever. After the War his father married a Northern girl and made his home for many years in Philadelphia so that it was a voice from the North and from the South speaking on this occasion and that fact gave a special appropriateness.

When Abraham Lincoln signed the Proclamation of Emancipation he linked the Union cause with the progress of human civilization and practically signed the death warrant of Confederacy. The pendulum in the clock of eternity never sways backward.

The spirit of Americanism was exemplified in a permanent degree at Gettysburg. The men who fought here were not cowards. We do not question their zeal or their greatness. To do so would be to lessen the glory of our own victories. You men who fought at Round Top, at Devil's Den, at Culp's Hill, or resisted the attack of Longstreet would never question the bravery of your opponents, a bravery that still marks Gettysburg as one of the bloodiest and greatest battles of the world. After three days of conflict the casualty list numbered 43,700 men. There must be an explanation for the spirit manifested at Gettysburg. What was it? It was because American met American. It was because the lion's whelp met lion's whelp, both knew how to fight and how to die. There was reason for this.

It was the American spirit which animated the few straggling colonies along the Atlantic coast to fling defiance at the greatest nation on earth and to win as the result of their struggle an independence and a liberty never before known on earth.

The same spirit of Americanism prevailed when the War between the States was at an end. As Bill Orp had said "I killed as many of him as he of me and now I am going back home to work." But conditions were however different North and South. The men of the North went to their homes to find them preserved to find a staple currency, to find a world in the throes of achievement. The men of the South went to their homes to find a land devastated, to find the women and colored people doing the work that must be done to exist, to find a land without a currency and without a staple government. They went to work to reestablish the spirit of Americanism and today both are one in that accomplishment.

The Spirit of Americanism is civil liberty. It is not license. It is not personal liberty. No man ever enjoyed absolute personal liberty but Adam and that for only a short time for it ceased when Eve was born. The Civil Liberty of the American is equality of Opportunity.

The immortal Lincoln on this very field pointed the way for the dedication of ourselves to the great unfinished task, the preservation of our civil liberty, the equality of opportunity. That is the task you men of the Blue and Gray preserved for all time to come at Gettysburg and passed it on to be preserved and carried on by the generations following you. This great task of the American is not the living some would think the world owes them. The world owes no one a living. You are in debt to the world. You owe the world and it is a debt and task that can only be discharged by a dedication to the task of the preservation of civil liberty, to the task of equality of opportunity, to the task of making this old world a better place to live in because you have lived. That is the message your sons carried on to the nations of the earth in the World War, to make the world safe for Democracy, to end wars and bring peace, to end the reign of Czars and Emperors, to establish Civil Liberty throughout the furthestmost regions of earth. This is part of the unfinished task to be carried on. The spirit of Americanism never refuses to make reparations for injuries done like Germany, never refuses to pay its debts, never repudiates its currency to escape deserved punishment while pleading poverty. The spirit of Americanism is the preservation of Civil Liberty along the lines of the Golden Rule, doing unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Rev. Earl J. Bowman made the opening prayer at the exercises on Monday afternoon, while Theodore McAllister acted as Master of Ceremonies. Col. E. B. Cope of the Gettysburg Park Commission spoke briefly. The music was by the Citizens' Band.

The celebration of the 60th Anniversary began on Sunday, with a sacred concert on the Square by the Citizens' Band. In many of the churches special sermons applicable to the day were preached.

On Monday there was a concert at Spangler's Spring by the band and a demonstration not on the program when an old veteran took up his life and calling to the other old boys marched around the spring from which the boys of Blue and Gray had refreshed themselves in 1863.

Then Battery B of the Sixteenth U. S. Field Artillery made its appearance and passed in review three times, first at a walk, then at a slow trot and finally at a gallop. Col. Cope was reviewing officer, and the battery fired three salutes from each of the four guns. At the afternoon celebration at Little Round Top the battery fired a national salute of 48 shots.

On Tuesday, July 3, the special feature was a concert by the band on the Academy campus, with an exhibition drill by Battery B.

Arrested With Queer Soft Drinks.

On Friday evening of last week at 9.45 Corporal Dohlstrom and Private Hugh Weston of the State Police, located in Gettysburg, arrested Geo. Treadway and William Chronister, both of Hanover, on the Lincoln Highway, three miles west of Cash-town. Forty-six cases of illegal beer is said to have been on the truck, driven by the men. At a hearing before Justice Hill, Saturday morning, Treadway and Chronister were released on $800 bail apiece, furnished by Charles H. Sell, of Hanover. The men are charged with the illegal possession and transportation of liquor for beverage purposes, hearing on which charges will be had on Friday morning, July 20, at 10.30 o'clock. A hydrometer test of the fluid in several bottles revealed 5 1-2 per cent of alcohol by volume. When asked what they had on board, according to the State officers, Treadway and Chronister replied soft drinks. The officers investigating, tasted the fluid and, finding it to have the earmarks of real, old-fashioned beer, ordered the driver of the truck to accompany them back to Gettysburg. Treadway and Chronister say the truck belongs to Robert Bollinger, of Hanover. Both men deny they knew what the bottles contained. The bottles had no outward labels.

Hurt in Jump from Auto.

C. O. Thomas and family, of near Brysonia, were in an ugly accident on last Sunday evening. They were returning from Harrisburg and near York Springs there was back-firing and Mrs. Thomas seeing a flame, cried "fire" and with her two daughters jumped from the rear seat. The car was immediately stopped and Mr. Thomas rushed to his wife and daughter who had fallen to the cement road striking their heads. Concussion was feared and they were rushed to the Harrisburg Hospital. Last reports were that both are on the way to recovery. The car did not take fire.

Caught in Fly Wheel.

Charles W. Hykes was caught in the fly wheel at the canning plant of the Aspers Fruit Products Company at Bendersville Station on Tuesday. The machinery was about ready to start for the day and the head engineer called to the men. It is supposed young Hykes did not hear and as the wheel gained momentum he was caught. The machinery was stopped at once and he was rushed to the Annie M. Warner Hospital. His recovery is expected but he had a dislocated collarbone, contusions about the body and other flesh wounds.

Drive for Nurses' Home.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Annie M. Warner Hospital on Tuesday evening the question of a Nurses' Home was under consideration. The opinion prevails that the erection of building should not be undertaken until funds are in sight for the same. The estimates of the architect who had made tentative plans was that a nurses' home could not be erected under $25,000. A canvass or drive for funds seemed to be the way to raise the money and it was thought best to make the drive in the month of August. It is likely the management of the drive will be placed in the hands of a bureau accustomed to handle such things.

HARDING SURRENDERS IDEAS

President Harding has shattered to pieces his World Court ideas by his St. Louis speech in which was proposed a self-perpetuating court that would be undemocratic and un-republican and contrary to every idea of American government. The Democratic United States Senators have already declared they will oppose such a Court. U. S. Senator Swanson of Virginia voicing the opposition, says:

"I favor the ratification of the protocol which would make the United States a member of the Permanent Court of International Justice upon the plan recommended by President Harding in his message to the Senate and as favored by Secretary of State Hughes. Had the President adhered to his recommendation as transmitted to the Senate the proposition would have passed the Senate by an overwhelming majority. But the President became frightened and surrendered to a few irreconcilables.

It is the most absurd and reactionary proposition ever submitted to the consideration of a people. A self-perpetuating court is the very essence of folly and reaction. No one would give serious consideration to a proposition that the courts of America should be self-perpetuating, and any one who proposed such a thing would be the subject of ridicule on the part of his fellow-citizens. To give a World Court such power would of course be a much more glaring error than to confer such authority on our own courts.

This absurd proposition, brought forward at St. Louis, would indicate that the President is either the greatest reactionary in America or that he has practically abandoned his effort to have the United States become a member of the Court."

DICKS' PICNIC WOODS.

Will Soon Have Equipment of Bath House and other Improvements.

C. E. Miller, McSherrystown, recently purchased the Judge Dicks farm along the Conewago, including the famous Dicks grove, and has transformed into an attractive park, and continues to improve it. His latest addition thereto being a commodious bath house with two large rooms, one for ladies and another for men, equipped with many lockers and bathing suits for men and women, which will be open to the general public.

He also expects to have a playground properly equipped with seesaws, merry-go-round, may-pole, sliding boards, swings and diving boards, for the amusement of children, which will also be public. A refreshment stand has been erected on the grounds and is in charge of Mr. Miller's son, Augustus Miller and the farmer, Harry Smith. Ice cream, candy, cigars and cigarettes and drinks of all kinds are offered for sale.

Late last year Mr. Miller completed the erection of a fine new bungalow at the end of the grove which he and his family are now occupying. He also has placed a fine concrete boat landing nearby with easy steps leading to the level of the grove.

A short time ago the large and well known tree midway between the bridge and the end of the grove, upon which a swing had been placed, gave way under the constant action of the water and ice which undermined its roots, causing it to fall into the water. It will have to be removed. A number of other trees along the stream at various points are also losing their hold and may fall unless proper measures are taken to protect them. As the trees are one of the principal points of beauty along the stream and very refreshing in their shade, it is advisable that proper measures be taken at once to preserve them before it is too late.

Shoe Factory Growing Fast.

The New Oxford Shoe Manufacturing Company, controlled by L. B. Hafer and Ward C. Heffner, of Hanover, is running overtime in an effort to meet its orders. So rapid has been the expansion of the plant since it was taken over in the spring that it will be enlarged and a contract for an additional building has been let to O. H. Hostetter, contractor. The new building will be 40 feet wide and nearly 200 feet long; a two-story fire proof structure on which work was begun Thursday. When this building is completed the plant's capacity will be doubled.

Machinery in the addition will be operated electrically from power generated at the plant's own station, which is being increased in size to care for the larger load.

Comfort of employees of the factory is being thought of and rest rooms with lockers and other equipment will be opened. A victrola has been purchased and dances will be held for the employees.

The New Oxford Shoe Manufacturing Company produces a line of children's turned shoes that have gained a reputation throughout the Eastern United States and buyers or large stores in coast cities have been trying to get additional supplies. They will be taken care of when the new addition provides means for a greatly increased output.

Fr. Shanahan Leaves Priesthood.

At the Sunday morning mass Rev. J. B. Shanahan, rector of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of New Oxford, announced his resignation after a service of nearly a half century as a priest, on account of failing health. He will sail for Ireland from New York on July 14 on the S. S. Celtic and live in retirement at his home-place in Dromin, Lestravel, Kerry County, Ireland.

Rev. Shanahan, who is 75 years of age, was born in Ireland on October 21, 1848, and came to America in August 1870 after preparing partly for the priesthood in his native country. Higher studies in philosophy and theology were begun late in 1870 at St. Vincent's Seminary, Beatty, Pa. He was ordained to the priesthood on June 11, 1874, in the Catholic church, Harrisburg by Rt. Rev. Jeremiah G. Shanahan, first Bishop of Harrisburg. The diocese of Harrisburg was formed July 12, 1868 and two days later the first Bishop was consecrated. At about the same time the diocese of Scranton was formed.

Rev. Shanahan is one of the few surviving priests of the early diocese. Rt. Rev. Mgr. A. F. Kaul, of St. Anthony's Church, Lancaster, being the senior surviving priest, Rev. Shanahan the second and Rev. Dr. Charles Koch, of Conewago Chapel, the third. Rev. Shanahan's first mission was Bellefonte. He came to New Oxford in the autumn of 1917. Prior to going to New Oxford he had served St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Bonneville, for a number of years. He would have celebrated his golden anniversary in the priesthood on June 11, 1924.

On his return to Ireland, Rev. Shanahan will be accompanied by his sister, Miss Joanna Shanahan, who has been his housekeeper. He has a brother in Ireland. He will leave New Oxford about July 8. Edward Shanahan, who will be ordained to the priesthood at Latrobe Seminary, next June, has made his home with the rector of the New Oxford church, who is his grand uncle.

How to Use Vacation.

The chief business of the child for the first twelve or fourteen years of his life should be to grow strong physically. During the school term of eight or nine months he is usually living in a more or less unnatural way, sitting still for longer periods than he should following out processes of logically arranged thought, and much too often doing things in which he has little real interest. His natural growth, physical and in many cases mental, is more or less interfered with.

Vacation time gives a good chance to overcome some of the drawbacks of our schools. Three months of long hours in the fresh air and sunshine, tramping, swimming, hunting, fishing, and playing, a moderate amount of physical labor for which the child is held responsible, plenty of plain wholesome food, sleeping out of doors, and he will return to his school in September with browned body, alert mind, and a fund of information that the school could not possibly give him. His interests will be widened, his muscles and mind strengthened, and he will have learned how to use his leisure time.

SEARCH FOR MUSICAL THIEF

Peculiar and Clever Crook Is Just Now Engaging the Attention of London Police.

Detectives are searching for an accomplished thief who plays the piano and sings for his victim before going away with the valuables.

Although known to the police, he has been "operating" in St. John's Wood, London, for more than a month and his two latest coups have been carried out within a few minutes' walk of each other.

He returned a fortnight ago to a house in St. George's terrace, Primrose Hill, where he had taken apartments, while the other boarders were at dinner. Inquiries resulted in the discovery that the lodger had gone with jewelry including four gold rings set with diamonds, worth $2,000.

A woman in King Henry's road, London, is the latest victim. On Monday the man rang up and in a short time arrived in a taxicab. He stated that he would fetch his luggage later.

Insisting in paying in advance he made out a check for a week's board and made himself agreeable by his musical accomplishments, but a prolonged absence in the bathroom excited suspicion, and it was found that a trunk had been forced and $1,000 worth of jewelry stolen. A finely-cased gold watch, valued at $500, was among the articles stolen, and the check was dishonored.—From the Continental Edition of the London Mail.
